

Lee County Schools Officials Seek 60% Pension Increases to $84.6 Million While 56% of Students fail Basic Reading and 63% fail basic Math Tests

Ft. Myers, FL — 101 Lee County Schools employees, dissatisfied with their five-year pension cash bonus, have used their public positions to seek a 60% increase, resulting in an eight-year pension cash bonus. This comes at a time when 56% of Lee County students fail reading and 63% fail math at the 10th grade level. "Why are taxpayers tolerating poor student outcomes while rewarding school employees responsible for students' education? How can you learn if you cannot read?" asked Pastor Rick Stephens, Co-Director and Co-Founder of the Florida Citizens Alliance. <https://goflca.org/> Sadly, US News and World Reports documents that the longer students spend in Lee County Schools the lower their test scores becomes <https://www.usnews.com/education/k12/florida/districts/lee-103042>

The attitude of entitlement by Lee Schools Employees to take a 60% pension bonus increase at the same time over half of students can't pass basic tests is shocking, said Dave Jaye, Reseracher <https://tripleddippers.org/>
